Excerpt from Trinity Alumni Register, Vol. 6: April, 1920 As the time drew near, such preparations! Such going back wards and forwards to High Point! Such a display of hats and new dresses! For if only one dress could be bought in the year, and only one hat could be obtained, that dress and that hat had to be ready at hand by the second Thursday in June. I remember very distinctly of hearing the older people talking of the brass band (a band was not an everyday affair then), and I pictured some kind of rolling hoops. I thought it must be something to roll and play with. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
